

Posted November 9, 2007

Coffee klatch serves most days

ROME -- The town of Rome will hold a coffee klatch in the Community Center at the municipal building. It is sponsored by Romemakers HCE and is free to all.

The public is invited from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Monday through Friday. Organizers provide coffee, participants provide conversation. People may come to meet neighbors, make new friends, socialize -- exchange ideas, recipes, etc., or just read the newspapers. Children are welcome.

There will be no coffee klatch Nov. 15 because the assessor's school will be using the community center. During the week of Thanksgiving, the municipal building will be closed Nov. 21 to 23, so the group will not be able to serve coffee.